TARA Livelihood Academy

invites you to participate in a 3-day programme on

“Decentralised Rural Electrification Projects – Level 1” Renewable Energy Training

In India, over 400 million people have no access to electricity. This acts as a major inhibitor to overall economic growth. In such a scenario, renewable energy based decentralised power production has proved to be an effective option to fulfill basic lighting needs and provides electricity for productive use and irrigation.

Through this Level I training programme, we will look at various elements related to successful project development and execution of smart business models to generate and distribute electricity in rural India. Post this training, participants shall have the requisite knowledge & skills in this domain to develop, plan, execute and manage decentralised rural electrification projects.

Who should Attend?

- Mid-level Managers from Energy Service Companies & NGOs
- Project teams in Donor or Govt. funded Programs
- CSR Managers in Corporates and Public Sector Undertakings
